

Certified Computing Professional

January, 2000

Des Plaines, IL - The ICCP and Excelsior College (formerly known as Regents College) have established a business partnership which allows ICCP exams to be given at Excelsior College for course credits and at the same time be used to attain the CCP designation.

The ICCP Examinations are approved for college and university credits at the upper and lower division levels by the American Council on Education. Through this accreditation you may be able to qualify for a full bachelor's degree by taking a number of ICCP examinations.

Excelsior College is located in Albany, New York State, USA and is one of the leading degree granting colleges in the world. It offers many B.Sc. Computing and Information Systems degrees based on examinations offered by the ICCP and also from examinations licensed from the ICCP to use as their own. Through the Excelsior website you can get a confidential online assessment of your credits towards the awarding of a formally recognized undergraduate degree.

Information is available at our web site at www.iccp.org on the procedure for receiving credit for these courses from the ICCP.

For any additional information, please contact the ICCP office at 2350 E. Devon Avenue, Suite 115, Des Plaines, IL 60018.